A CLEVER SELLER SELLS THEIR HOME IN A CLEVER WAY

WHO ARE WE

Clever Home Selling is a pioneering real estate brokerage founded by seasoned real estate investors, bringing innovative solutions to Clever sellers. Whether you seek maximum exposure through open market sales, swift transactions via cash offers with quick closings and zero contingencies, or the prospect of truly passive income by selling on favorable terms, our wealth of experience and expertise is dedicated to securing the best results for you. Our approach prioritizes your goals, eliminating the pressure associated with conventional sales methods.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is to elevate our customer's quality of life by providing Clever real estate solutions that maximize profits and foster enduring relationships.

OUR STORY

Years of service as a real estate agent immersed me in the community during some of life's most significant moments. These experiences were deeply rewarding. Subsequently, I ventured into the realm of real estate investing, where I discovered clever buying and selling strategies that resolved common seller dilemmas. These strategies not only allowed me to acquire properties cleverly but also provided sellers with solutions that aligned with their plans.

Fueled by this revelation and unbridled enthusiasm, our goal became clear: to make these clever strategies accessible to everyone. Whether you aim to fetch the highest market price for your home while saving on the process, the speed and convenience of a cash offer without inspections or contingencies, seek to build passive income through terms-based selling, or the need to sell a property with minimal equity to cover costs, the secrets of clever investors are now within your reach. At Clever Home Selling, we believe a Clever Seller Sells Their Home in a Clever Way.

MEET THE BROKER

I'm Juan David Chaparro, the Broker Owner at Clever Home Selling. I've called Naples, Florida, home for the past two decades. I moved here at the age of 16, embarking on a career in sales that eventually led me to the world of real estate. With years of experience and acquired knowledge, I was prepared to offer Clever solutions for real estate needs, leading to the birth of Clever Home Selling.

Outside of real estate, I invest my time in sports such as pickleball, basketball, running, swimming in the Gulf of Mexico, kickboxing, surfing, and calisthenics. Family, personal development, and nutrition also hold significant places in my life. A leisurely stroll in the park with my family, an enlightening audiobook or podcast, and a nourishing meal all contribute to my journey toward becoming the best version of myself, enabling me to serve my family and community more effectively as a son, brother, uncle, real estate broker, team leader, and citizen.

My passion lies in exceeding your expectations through a Clever approach to real estate.

- OMG, we are so blessed to have selected Juan David and his team as our broker to list & sell our challenging property in FL. From the initial consult through the many showings, negotiations, and contingencies; they met each challenge with alacrity and ingenuity. It just doesn't get better. We have years of real estate experience in many markets and they are certainly among the most professional, diligent, and resourceful we have ever worked with. Plus, Clever Home Selling donates a portion of its commission to local philanthropic causes too just icing on the cake in our opinion. Please give Juan David and the Clever Home Selling team your most serious consideration.

- Words cannot describe how super Juan David Chaparro and his team are as a professional broker that delivers top-notch world-class service! After being in the market for close to 6 months, of trying to buy our first house, we literally had no luck & were badly looking for a miracle to happen. Apparently, the miracle happened to be Clever Home Selling. As a first-time home buyer, I knew next to nothing about the process, Juan and his team explained everything from escrow to closing costs. He helped us get the house at the right price. There were some complicated aspects of the transaction. They went above and beyond to help us resolve those obstacles. They kept very close attention to my mortgage agent to make sure everything happened at the right time. They were never pushy. Juan was always on time for his appointments. They are always informative, and have a lot of positive energy, along with their "let's do it attitude", oh my, this is exactly what everyone should be looking for as a realtor. From day one to closing, they were there for me and my wife. After the seller accepted our offer, they kept us very informed about the timeline of what I needed to do from day 1 to closing. As a first-time buyer, their knowledge and advice were extremely valuable. One thing I really appreciated about them is that they respond to emails/calls within minutes! They are highly, highly recommended! Overall, a 6 stars experience, out of 5 stars. Call them now! I can't tell you how great they are.
